Investigation Of City Golf Course Set

Civic Association
Committee Chairman
Details Questions

A thorough investigation of the City of Palm Springs' purchase of the 150-acre municipal golf course will be undertaken by a special committee headed by Dr. Benjamin Goldberg, it was announced by the Palm Springs Civic Association today.

The association, set up to "watchdog" the city government, named Dr. Goldberg to head the committee at its first meeting late last month.

DR. GOLDBERG released to the press yesterday an outline of the procedure that will be used to investigate the actions of the city in the golf facility acquisition, headed by the question as to whether the city has the right to enter into a lease to purchase property in the sum of approximately $1,000,000 without voter approval.

Sub-questions to this include: What are the leasing obligations that have been entered into? What resolutions have been passed by the council approving of amendments to the original leasing agreements and why? Will the City be furnished with a clear title, and can proper legal steps be taken to ensure the lessor company does not meet its contractual obligations?

OTHER QUESTIONS which will be deeply gone into by the committee, will include whether the city has made a good investment by surveying the value of the land, and benefits of the course to businesses and residents; time table of development and operation of the course; concessions as to operation of golf carts, professional shop, food and drink, costs of operation, employees, supplies, machinery, as well as a profit and loss; and an investigation as to whom has been involved in setting up this deal with the City and their interests.

Dr. Goldberg, who is a retired Chicago doctor, served on the Riverside County Grand Jury, and because of his experience as foreman, was named to head this investigation.

Norwegians Vote Wet in Election

OSLO, Norway (UPI)—Teetotalers took a terrible licking in the plebiscite Monday on the issue of whether sales of wine and spirits would be allowed in 18 Norwegian cities.

HORSEBACK RIDE ALMOST DISASTER FOR RED BLUFF GIRL

McLOUD, Calif. (UPI)—Janet Thomas, 16, of Red Bluff, Calif., was hospitalized as the result of the following series of events:
A porcupine dropped from a tree, scaring her horse... The horse reared, causing Janet to drop her rifle... The horse stepped on the rifle, causing it to discharge... And the bullet struck the girl in the left leg.

McDonald Asks Talks with Top Steel Officials

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Steelworkers' President David J. McDonald today challenged leaders of the steel industry to sit down with him and negotiate a settlement of the three-month-old steel strike.

"I personally would like to sit down with these chief executive officers, the men who have the responsibility... and talk out the issues," McDonald said. He complained of being unable to reach any top industry officials.

McDONALD MADE his statements to President Eisenhower's fact-finding board which is racing the calendar in an attempt to either settle the dispute or issue a report to the President by mid-night Friday.

Before McDonald testified, the chairman of the fact-finding board sharply criticized both sides for failing to reach a common ground. He said the whole process of peaceful negotiation is endangered by the strike.

IN DETROIT, meanwhile, steel shortages in the auto industry have boosted the number of laid off workers to 17,400 today and threatened to idle another 4,100 Wednesday.

At Los Angeles, some 1,800 members of the United Auto Workers returned to work today after a brief walkout against Canon Electric Co.

And in San Francisco, negotiations to end the seven-week-old Pacific Coast shipyard strike were scheduled to resume here today at the Whitcomb Hotel.

Reds Make New Move in India

CALCUTTA, India (UPI)—The Hindustan Standard reported today that Communist troops from China have seized a second outpost on India's northeast frontier. A dispatch from Shillong said Red troops have seized Khinman's outpost in the Kameng district as well as Longju, the outpost in the Subansiri district which had previously been reported in Communist hands.

PALM SPRINGS POLICE DEPARTMENT yesterday dedicated its new building in the Civic Center, with Erle Stanley Gardner giving the dedicatory address. Civic leaders were introduced as were divisions of the police department. Gardner told the audience that "the policeman's family suffers from inadequate pay, and that residents of every community should remember that a policeman risks his life to protect the residents of a community." The other speaker of the day was John Peper, supervisor of Peace Officers Training,

State Department of Education, who said that the new building "is more than a building, it's a monument to a new profession." The local department and its personnel were highly praised by Mayor Frank Bogert as "one of the finest." (Desert Sun Photo)

HEAVY TURNOUT FOR BOND VOTES

Voters staged an "average to heavy" turnout at polling places for balloting in today's double bond election, indicating what may wind up as a record parade to the polls in a school election by closing time at 7 p.m.

Palm Springs school district officials said balloting on a local bond issue was very heavy at three city polling places and average at five other area polls early this morning.

A sampling of polls throughout the Coachella Valley Junior College District indicated that the trend was similarly towards a heavy turnout as voters balloted on junior college bonds.

The two issues before the public today — a $4,160,000 bond issue for expansion of Palm Springs Unified School District educational facilities and a $3,500,000 bond issue for construction of the new College of the Desert.

Both issues were placed before the voters today, but they will be marked "Yes" or "No" on separate ballots.

All polling places in both districts are open until 7 p.m.

A mid-morning survey of the eight polling places in the Palm Springs district showed a heavy turnout — above average for a school election — at Cahulla and Katherine Finchy Schools and at Rancho Mirage.

"Average" turnouts were registered at the remaining five school district polling places.

At least two Indian schools set up as polling places have indicated a trend towards a heavy voter turnout in that area, where voters are balloting only on the college bond issue.

Polling prognosticators believe the heavy-voting trend will continue, leading to a record ballot for any school election.

School district voters who may be unable to cast ballots in today's double bond election because of lack of transportation are being offered free rides to any one of eight polling places by one of eight polling places by one of eight groups and individuals.

Telephone numbers to be called for rides:

In the south, west and east areas of Palm Springs City, FA 4-2338, for transport by the Jay-Cee-ettes.

In the north area of the city, FA 5-2610, 5-6737, 5-6207 and 4-2508.

Catholic and Rancho Mirage areas, FA 8-2813 and 8-3221.

For Desert Hot Springs, FA 9-5244 and 9-3484.

Thousand Palms, EXpress 0-3605 and 0-2241.

Polling places in the Palm Springs area for both elections are at Frances Stevens School, Cahulla School, Katherine Finchy School, Cielo Vista School, Cathedral City School, Desert Hot Springs School, the fire station in Thousand Palms and the Rancho Mirage Properties office, 71-811 Highway 111, in Rancho Mirage.

Two Officers Resign from Local Force

With the start of the State Personnel Board salary survey in Palm Springs, Chief of Police August G. Kettmann today announced the resignation of two more officers from the local department.

Traffic officer George W. Smith, on the department since August, 1958, resigned effective tomorrow to take a job with the Oakland Police Department, and William Manger, on the force since October, 1957, resigned effective the last of September to take a job with the Los Angeles Sheriff's office.

Both officers gave pay as a reason for their resignations, as well as chances for schooling and advancement.

Smith said that his new job will give him the same pay as a sergeant receives on the local force. This makes a total of seven resignations from the police force in the past three months, making a total of 14 resignations and one transfer since Jan. 1, 1959.

DACCA, Pakistan (UPI)—At least 300 persons died within the last few days in a widespread outbreak of cholera in the district of this capital of east Pakistan.

SPEAKERS PRAISE POLICE BUILDING

More than 300 persons yesterday afternoon attended the dedication of Palm Springs' new Police Building, which was highlighted by nationally known speakers.

Calling the new Palm Springs Police station "more than a building," John F. Peper, director of Peace Officer Training, State Department of Education, termed it a "monument to a new profession" and said that while the "comic strip police officer" may still be found in isolated places throughout the country, they are rapidly being replaced by intelligent, educated men.

PICKING UP the attributes Peper assigned to a good Police Officer, Mayor Frank Bogert said that Police Chief Gus Kettmann is the embodiment of all of them, and started a hearty round of applause for the chief and his corps of officers.

In his short and pithy speech, author Erle Stanley Gardner, who is nationally known for the work he has done in penology and problems of parole and for his Court of Last Resort, went right to the heart of a problem that is currently the subject of a survey in Palm Springs, the low pay of police officers.

"WE ARE LOSING our battle against crime" despite the fact that police departments are better implemented to combat it and despite such modern equipment and buildings as Palm Springs now has, Gardner continued.

He said the cause is that "we are not facing up to our problems intelligently," and urged the average citizen to respect and obey the law, impressing it on the younger generation.

OUTLINING the devotion to law enforcement as a career that leads men to risk their lives, and sacrifice to live on a policeman's pay, Gardner commented that if they can't be paid better they can be shown "appreciation of human dignity," and warned "You can't buy good law enforcement in the bargain basement... because it just isn't there."

Kettmann introduced the heads of the various law enforcement groups, Capt. Julius Edelstein of the Reserves; Capt. Fred Ross of the Mounted Police, and George Rasmussen, one of the organizers; Chief of Police John Bennett of Riverside, Undersheriff Golden

U.S. Orbits 'Kitchen Sink' Satellite Aloft

Four-Stage Rocket Puts 91-Pound Moonlet in Heavens

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (UPI)—A 60-ton Juno II blasted a "kitchen sink" satellite into the sky today and authorities said the multi-experiment moonlet apparently went into orbit.

All four stages of the rocket, combining several U. S. space age weapons, fired on schedule, jubilant missile men said.

THE VEHICLE, protecting its delicate 91.5 pound satellite with an aerodynamic shroud at the top of its 76-foot length, rose gracefully from its pad in a cradle of flame at 7:31 a. m. (p.s.t.). It climbed along a steep path under the power of its 150,000 pound thrust booster.

The satellite was dubbed "kitchen sink" because it is loaded with "everything but the kitchen sink" in the way of a number of experimental devices.

THE ROCKET headed to the northeast, seeking an orbit that would fluctuate 50 degrees north and south of the equator — or over all of the United States except Alaska.

If all went well, the satellite would go into an elliptical orbit of 300 miles perigee, or point closest to the earth, and 710 miles apogee, the farthest point.

THE LAUNCH was a repeat of a satellite try of July 16 that failed. In that attempt, the Juno II was deliberately blown up just after launch when it leaned off course.

The highly sophisticated moonlet is designed to study radiation balance, Lyman-alpha, X-rays, cosmic rays, micrometeorites, exposed solar cells and space temperatures. The satellite carried two transmitters — one powered by chemical batteries and operating on 20 megacycles. The latter will transmit data on six of the seven experiments.

RANKS OF JOBLESS DECLINE DESPITE STEEL SHUTDOWNS

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Unemployment dropped by 196,000 in September to 3,230,000, the government reported today. At the same time, the number of people working fell by 894,000 as more than a million youngsters went back to school.

In their latest assessment of the employment picture, Labor Department statisticians reported that the nation's total work force in September was 66,347,000.

Both declines were about normal for the month, the Labor Department said.

But a further dip in unemployment expected for October may be wiped out by a swelling tide of workers laid off because of the steel strike.

De Seversky Warns:

America Needs Better Defense

A solution to possible invasion of the United States by Russia, by building up the defense of the country, was voiced here yesterday by Major Alexander P. De Seversky.

Arriving in the Village for a visit with Charles Farrell, De Seversky told The Desert Sun that he was worried about President Eisenhower's visit to the Soviet Union next spring.

"NIKITA KHRUSHCHEV'S visit to the U.S. just intensified his grip upon his people. His speeches here were crude and rude, but his interpreter glossed them over, and the American people applauded," said De Seversky.

He particularly pointed out one incident when Khrushchev said (according to the interpreter), "If you like capitalism, live in capitalism, and God be with you," but De Seversky pointed out that in reality what Mr. K. said was "God help you."

DE SEVERSKY said that he was fearful for President Eisenhower during his trip to Russia, and is encouraging the President and his entourage to have "carefully chosen interpreters who will not give the Russian people a different story than that the President is trying to tell."

"Within the Soviet regime, war is inevitable," said the Russian born airplane designer, "and right now the Russians are working on a defensive power as well as offensive, and when they finally perfect an adequate defense against both aircraft and ballistic missiles, they will be able to strike us with impunity."

HIS PLANS FOR a better defense of America is four-pointed, and includes:
—Our government must tell the American people the truth about where we stand in military power.

Market Held Own During Past Week

New Treasury Notes Overshadow Stocks

By ELMER C. WALZER
UPI Financial Editor

NEW YORK (UPI) — The stock market barely held its own during last week, paling into insignificance to an almost sensational demand for the treasury's new 5 per cent four-year-and-ten-months notes.

The treasury offered $2 billion of the notes and received subscriptions for more than $11 billion. Bankers said the issue was priced right to attract investors and it did from coast to coast.

THE DIFFICULTIES in this financing by short term offering were competition with savings institutions that might upset the mortgage market, competition with business with itself — with its 3 1/2 per cent savings bonds. But the treasury was more than pleased with the response. And the bond market perked up. The new issue sold at a premium of a full point at one time and better demand was noted for other bonds.

THERE WERE indications this might be the top of the current money squeeze but the penalty of easier money might involve some curtailment of business expansion. The bond success steadied the stock market which also got some help from a buoyant London market which soared on the sweeping victory of the Conservative Party in national elections.

Domestic news included recall of striking dock workers through operation of the Taft-Hartley Act applied by the President late in the week, a deadlock of steel wage negotiations, and mixed business statistics.

GAINS APPEARED in electricity output, automobile output, and steel production. Car loadings and coal output declined. Retail trade showed reductions in some sections. Building slipped back.

The so-called space issues dominated the trading in the stock market. Russia's new moon circling rocket brought talk of increased spending on missiles here. The electronic issues stood out all week. Other strong spots included the aircrafts which make the missiles and the makers of rocket fuel.

AIRLINES GOT a whirl when September reports showed substantial gains in air travel. Some of the papers moved higher. Late in the week the soft drink issues were bid up. Oils sagged to new lows on tax selling and then came back from their lows. Railroad issues held in a very narrow range. New York Central was soft for a time on another dividend omission. Steels firmed after irregularity in several sessions. Continental Steel rose when the management indicated it may vote to split the stock.

DRUGS HAD THEIR strong spots. So did the tire issues. General Tire raised its dividend and declared a 2 per cent stock dividend. Many special issues showed good gains. Some encountered difficulties. Schenley fell off for a time when a leading brokerage house removed it from its investment list.

Brunswick Balke fell on retirement of debentures which will result in an increase in its outstanding stock. Phillips responded to favorable earnings predictions by its officials.

SALES FOR THE week totaled 11,862,845 shares, a daily average of 2,372,569 shares. This compared with 13,638,990 shares, or a daily average of 2,727,798 shares in the previous week and 19,104,940 shares for the week — 3,820,968 shares daily — a year ago.

The Dow-Jones industrial average closed the week at 639.98, up 0.41 point; railroad 158.67, off 0.18; utility 87.93, off 0.93; and 65 stocks 212.33, off 0.37. The Standard & Poor's 500-stock index lost 20 cents a share on the week which meant a billion dollar loss in valuation for the entire market.

AMERICAN MOTORS with sales of 293,300 shares led the market in trading volume. It rose from 57 1/4 to a new high at 64 and closed the week at 62 1/2, up 1 1/4 points from the previous week.

Studebaker Packard was second and its when issued stock was seventh. Each lost slightly. Standard Oil N.J. drew up in third place and showed a fractional loss. Next came Thiokol up 9 1/2 points; General Motors off 1/4; and New York Central off 3/4 points.

GAINS IN THE electronics ranged to 11 points in Litton and 10 1/2 in Texas Instruments. Zenith gained 7 and advances of nearly 5 each were set by Beckman and Raytheon.

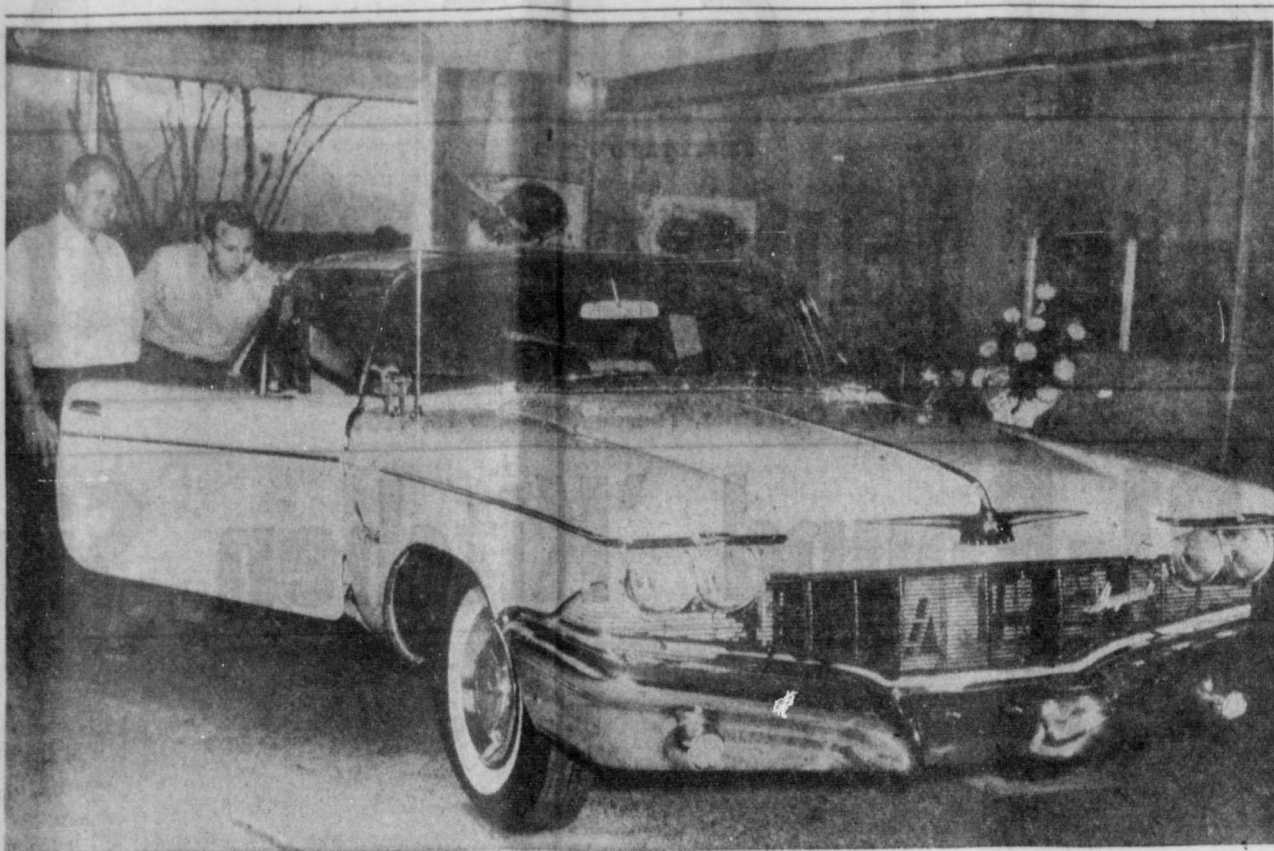

Vick Chemical, up 6 1/4 and Carter Products up 4 1/4, featured the drugs. Eastern gained more than 3 in the air lines; Air Reduction 3 1/2 in the chemicals; Coca Cola 7 1/4 in the soft-drinks; and Ritter Dental 7 1/4 in the specialties.

DUPONT AND General Motors started the week on strength following the court decision after the close last Friday permitting Du Pont to keep its 63 million General Motors shares without voting rights.

Japan Death Toll Climbs to 4,464

TOKYO (UPI) — The latest police tabulation today showed 4,464 dead and 649 missing in Typhoon Vera, which slammed into Japan's central Honshu Island on Sept. 26.

The official tally showed 30,114 injured and 1,571,324 homeless.

NEW CHRYSLER IMPERIALS ARE NOW DISPLAYED AT IMPERIAL MOTORS

CATHEDRAL CITY — Chrysler Corporation's new 1960 Imperial is now on display at Imperial Motors in Cathedral City and Indio, Kay Olesen announced today.

Olesen owner of the twin Dodge-Chrysler-Imperial auto agencies, said his firm is now displaying the 1960 Crown Imperial, Custom Imperial and the glamorous Le Baron, the three Imperial models.

IMPERIAL FOR 1960 features new design and new engineering, continuing the famous Chrysler-engineered "Forward Look," Olesen said.

This year, Imperial features include the automatic swivel seat, which automatically adjusts for easy entrance and egress with the opening and closing of car doors.

IMPERIAL RETAINS its 350-horsepower engine, which has been engineered for greater economy this year, and boasts a "square steering wheel" for ease of handling and better control.

The Imperial 1960 body is also fully dust-proofed, inside and out, and features completely rust-proof construction, Olesen said.

that each piece of the Imperial body has been factory dipped in a special solution to prevent rust and corrosion.

Only from three to ten persons out of one hundred escape some dental decay.

—Reorganize the Defense Department by integrating our services into a single unit with one purpose — undisputed global control of air and space.

—AMERICANS SHOULD stop a current horrible waste. Of $40 billion dollars spent for defense, $20 billion goes down the drain supporting obsolete weapon systems that have nothing to do with what we have to fight.

—And, finally, we will never be able to show to the world the superiority of our way of life unless we can demonstrate that we can be irrevocably strong and yet maintain a high standard of living, through air strength and at the same time create abundance. It is within our capacity to reorganize our defense.

As a consultant for the Air Force, he will make some studies of Air Force installations on the West Coast and Friday will go to Langley Field to attend the National Air and Space Administration meeting.

Khrushchev 'Testimony' Is Released

Congressional Committee Tells Of His 'Crimes'

By NORMAN G. CORNISH United Press International WASHINGTON (UPI) — A congressional committee has aired testimony that Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev rose to power through mass murder, starvation and torture and should not be trusted.

The testimony, charging Khrushchev with the direction of man-made famines, shootings, deportations and suppression of religion, was given by nine witnesses, all but one natives of the Ukraine. THE OTHER witness, Dr. Lev E. Dobriansky, professor of Soviet economics at Georgetown University here, charged that "there are several hundred Americans who are still in Khrushchev's slave labor camps."

The testimony was released by the House Committee on Un-American Activities as the second report on closed hearings it held on "the crimes of Khrushchev."

In a slap at Khrushchev's American tour, the committee quoted the premier's own words in a special preface to the testimony: "IF ANYONE believes that our smiles involve abandonment of the teaching of Marx, Engels and Lenin, he deceives himself poorly. Those who wait for that must wait until a shrimp learns to whistle."

Paramount among the charges was testimony that Khrushchev carried out a program of mass starvation to stamp out public resistance in the Ukraine when he was boss of the Communist Central Committee there.

NICHOLAS PRYCHODKO, now a professional engineer for the city of Toronto, Canada, and formerly a professor at Kiev University, testified that six to seven million persons died in the "man-made" famine.

Constantin Kononenko, of Boonton, N.J., testified that while Stalin made "the basic decision" on the campaign, "Khrushchev cannot obliterate the historical fact that he was actually the perpetrator of the details."

A "WELCOME ABOARD" is offered by Capt. M. H. Tuttle, left, to Yeoman Second Class Benny D. Jones, son of Mrs. Bonnie Jones of 350 East Amado Road, as he joins the staff of the U. S. Naval Missile Center at Point Mugu, Calif. Jones, the husband of the former Anita Mason, of Indio, reported to the Naval Missile Center commanded by Capt. Tuttle, from the ocean up USS Kalmia. A Navy man since 1945, Jones has served on ships in the Pacific and on the staff of the Commander in Chief of the Pacific Fleet. He served aboard a tank landing craft during the Korean conflict. MOOSE SUPPORT 'YES' VOTE TODAY

Members of the Palm Springs Moose Lodge have unanimously endorsed a $4,160,000 school bond issue, the fate of which hinges on school district balloting today.

The Moose endorsement followed a talk before the lodge by Dr. Charles Webster, Palm Springs High School principal, who outlined the "vital need" for new classrooms.

Dr. Webster called on Moose members to support the bond issue which is designed to provide school facilities for a student enrollment which is expected to reach 5,000 within the next few years.

The school principal explained that the district's student population has doubled in the past six years and is expected to redouble within the next five.

Dr. F. Wendell Fifield, one of the nation's most prominent book reviewers, discussed religious books for the Women's Association of Palm Springs Community Church this afternoon.

Dr. Fifield spoke on "A Case of Spiritual Books," involving books of a religious nature, following a potluck luncheon in the church dining room.

Dear Abby...

...by Abigail VanBuren

DEAR ABBY: Please state your opinion of an "office party" given at the home of a divorced woman employee on the occasion of her leaving the firm.

Four married men were invited. Their wives were excluded. Their "dinner partners" were single office girls. (It's a large office, but this was the entire "guest list.") When I expressed surprise that wives were not invited, I was told that it would be "too much work" to include the wives. We wives would have been happy to fix the dinner and clean up afterwards.

Do you think a married man has to attend this kind of affair unless he wants to? All the men were fat and forty three were fifty! When is business business, and when is fun? UNINVITED WIFE

DEAR UNINVITED: Don't call this an "office party." This was simply a party including some of the office help. No married man has to attend a social function without his wife unless he wants to.

DEAR ABBY: I just read the letter from the woman whose problem was a husband who cussed all the time. You suggested she fine him 25 cents every time he used a swear word. That might work with some husbands, but it wouldn't work with mine. If I told my husband that I was fine him 25 cents every time he swore, he'd tell me where to go, and he'd owe me 25 cents immediately. HULDA

DEAR ABBY: I saw your "sure cure" for a swearing husband and I tried it on my own. I kept track of every violation and charged him a quarter for each one. Since September first he ran up a bill of $66.75. Now, how do I get him to pay me? Please don't tell me to see a lawyer because my husband is one. Thank you, MRS. E.

DEAR ABBY: My nephew came home from college with a very smart-alecky attitude. When I introduced him to an attractive young lady at our Club, he said: "Boy, you're the kind of girl I'd like to take home to mother — if I could trust my father." Everyone laughed.

The Herter Policy

WASHINGTON, D.C. — Secretary Herter has left his calling card at the door of history. As all diplomats long to do, and as a few succeed in doing, Mr. Herter has enunciated a policy which bears his name.

It is too early to say whether the Herter Policy will endure in memory like the Marshall Plan or the Open Door Policy of John Hay. But even if Mr. Herter's declaration of intent is ephemeral, it is worth noting and worth watching. This is how the Herter Policy was given at a press conference on October 6th:

REPORTER CHALMERS Roberts: "Mr. Secretary, you said that this Soviet leadership posture in the Communist bloc placed a degree of responsibility on the Russians in the actions of other members of the bloc. Was that point made to Mr. Khrushchev by the President during the talks at Camp David?"

Secretary Herter: "I think Mr. Khrushchev appreciates that we feel that they have a great degree of responsibility for the actions of other members of the bloc."

REPORTER HOLMES Alexander: "Mr. Secretary, were you saying, in effect, to Mr. Roberts a minute ago, that we would hold Russia responsible for actions of other Communist nations?"

Secretary Herter: "... they are responsible, as long as they are maintaining this position of being the leader of the bloc."

There are several things to say about the Herter Policy, but it would be difficult to name them in order of significance. The first impression might be that Mr. Herter was saying a good word for Premier Khrushchev as a missionary of peace both in America and in Red China.

DURING THE SAME press conference Mr. Herter seemed to compliment the Russian Premier for his part in "easing the tensions," for an attitude of "real sincerity" concerning world disarmament, for "withdrawing the threat" to West Berlin and finally for talking while in China "quite eloquently with respect to the solution of international problems by peaceful means."

All this would indicate that Mr. Herter welcomes Mr. K. as a working partner in the fateful business of preventing war between the Western World and Communism.

Another interpretation, not unrelated to the first, could be that Mr. Herter is working very shrewdly to sow tars between the two Communist allies. There was a good deal of invidious comparison of Red Russia and Red China in the Secretary's remarks.

THE IMPRESSION was inescapable that the American attitude toward Russia, while still skeptical, is one of gratitude for present favors and great expectations of future accord. On the other hand, the American viewpoint toward China is still cold and tough.

The Secretary said: "I can see no visible easing of tensions between Chinese Communists and ourselves... These matters are difficult to evaluate, but they would seem to indicate that perhaps Mr. Khrushchev and the Soviet Government of Russia are taking a rather different line... from that of the Communists."

FINALLY, IT MAY be that Mr. Herter is legitimizing a marriage of convenience which has existed since Russia attained atomic parity with the United States. In this forced union of terrible responsibility, the USA and the USSR became parents of the sickly but surviving child named Peace. Whether the reason is good or bad, Russo-American joint ability at world destruction has given us the pacific stalemate.

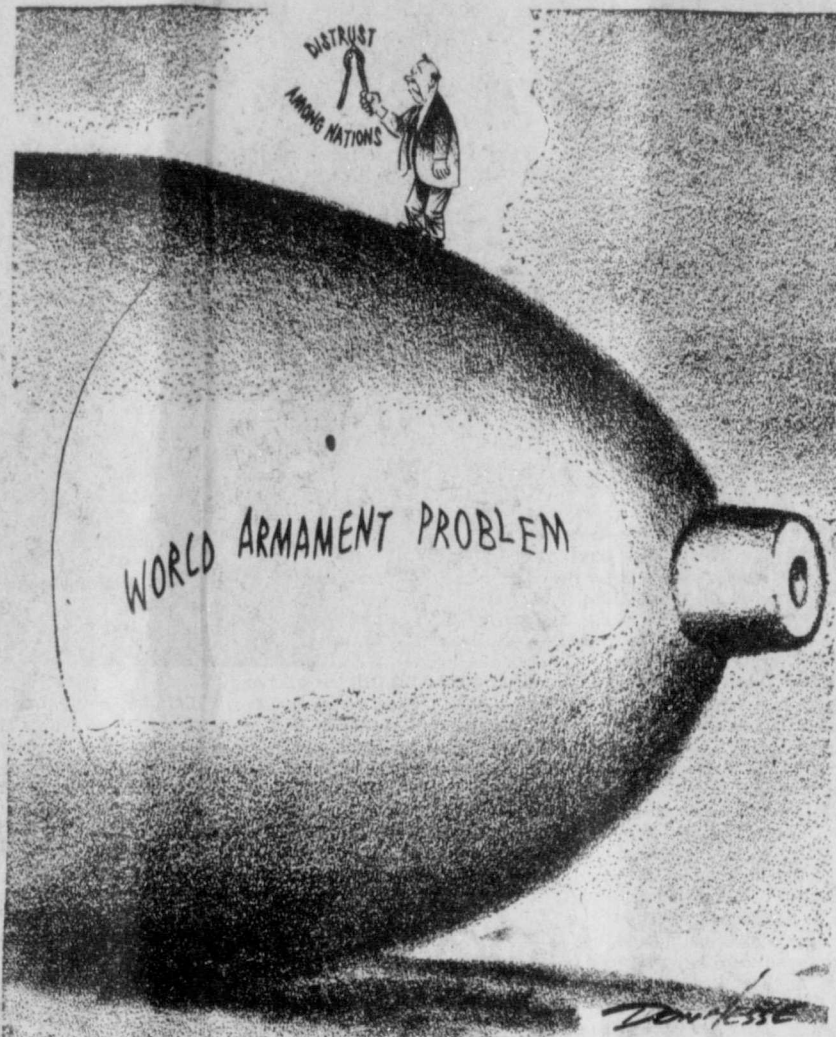

Mr. Herter is the first American statesman to make such a forthright recognition of this parenthood or partnership which the two countries share.

IN ALL, THE Herter Policy appears to put Russia on notice that we expect her to act as the USA acted in the Suez crisis under President Eisenhower's direction. Both nations are to keep their allies from starting a war. The solutions to the Formosa riddle and the Southeast Asia embroilments may lie in the Herter Policy, but the other side of the coin must also be examined.

If we ask and expect Russia to exert her Communist leadership for a status quo in the Far East, we assume an obligation which we may not enjoy. The Herter Policy also implies that we will exert our Western leadership against the disturbance of the status quo among the satellites of East Europe.

Tough Nut—Small Nutcracker

This Side Of The Sun

By Phat

Baseball is ended,
Golf's on the wing,
But 'til it gets here,
Football's the thing.

I sat here from 3:54 p.m. PST until 4:23 ditto, trying to think of a word that would rhyme with golf.

They say the only word for which there is no rhyme is "orange."

Have you ever tried "golf"?

HOWEVER, we're on the verge of one of the biggest golf seasons ever in Palm Springs, "The Winter Golf Capital of the World."

Some of the biggest and most attention-attracting tournaments in the nation are scheduled for our numerous and challenging courses.

Some of the biggest names in golfdom will be here.

Most of the top golf writers of the nation — and from foreign lands, too, next month — will be here.

That's why I sat for 28 minutes, give or take a second or two, trying to dream up a rhyme for golf.

Then reverted to football.

IKE GOT US OFF to a running start on golf last week and the momentum is snow-balling. What with the Ryder Cup next month, the National Desert Seniors a month later and the rich Desert Classic after that.

Plus all of our regular tournaments.

The late Tom O'Donnell really started something a quarter of a century ago when he decided he must slam that little white pellet around.

WAS SHOCKED to learn late last week of the sudden death of J. Bentley Haines, 49.

You probably don't know him by that name. Few did.

He was the perpetually affable postman who trod Palm Canyon Drive, whistling or singing on his route.

Despite his pleasant, always-friendly manner, he had the nickname of "Bad News Benny."

THAT'S BECAUSE on the first of every month or soon thereafter, due to the nature of his job, he brought those little window envelopes containing duns. But the nickname was an affectionate one and he loved it. "Remember, I bring checks, too, if any," he used to say.

Haines was a lover of the theater. He never missed a Playhouse Production here and when he had time off, headed for Los Angeles to see the big shows there or attend the concerts.

FEW KNEW IT, for he never complained, but Benny had a chronic ailment which forced him to be eternally on guard.

He had to live carefully.

But he forgot momentarily last week and when asked to bowl, accepted although he hadn't topped a pin in twenty years.

The fatal collapse followed.

"Bad News Benny," who really was Good News, will be missed along his route on Palm Canyon Drive.

He loved the Village and all of the Villagers who knew him, loved him.

STAN DELAPLANE:

'Clotheslining' Cute

This being the melancholy season of falling leaves and rising blood pressure, a few words are in order about football.

Back in the season of 1583, one of the sports writers wrote the following:

"AS CONCERNING football, I protest unto you that it may rather be called a friendly kind of fight than a play or recreating — a bloody and murdering practice than a fellowly sport or pastime."

Sports writers do not write that way any more, naturally. For now we are more enlightened. We know that when MacPheebe "clotheslines" his worthy opponent, he is recreating — even if he half murders him.

THAT IS A CUTE practice — "clotheslining." I never heard of it before football became professional.

It consists of grabbing the ball carrier by the Adam's apple. Exactly like when I ran under a clothesline in my youth. It hit me right at the throat and I could not talk above a whisper for a week.

WELL, THESE ARE the smoky autumn days of sport in our town. It is all done by science these days.

Our coach punches out the opposition on IBM machines. He punches out their strong points and the IBM weaknesses. He lets the IBM machine THINK.

Now comes the golden Saturday. On the field, the color-plashed players are digging their cleats into the ground nervously. (And wondering if the pros have a scout in the stands.)

THUD! THE BALL sails in the air. Clash of helmets and shoulder pads.

"First and 10," says the announcer. "Whistlestop High on their own 20."

Now the coach pulls the lever on the IBM machine. The machine coughs up a tape.

"In this situation, Whistlestop's quarterback pulls a quarterback sneak."

A RESERVE HUSTLES in with this news. Whistlestop is stopped, cold as a reefer car going through the Dakotas.

"Now how did they figure out I was a sneak?" says the quarterback. He is playing against an electric brain. Naturally he cannot think as fast as electricity. It does not seem fair.

HOW MANY wonderful things have happened to football since that little scrub picked up the ball as Rugby and ran with it. (It was considered a sneaky thing to do in those days. But look at the stadium construction work that has grown out of it.)

When I was a faithful subscriber to "American Boy" — and how about that smart fat boy, Mark Tidd, remember? When I was a subscriber to this magazine, we knew you did not have to worry about IBM electric brains.

WHAT FOOTBALL players worried about was somebody stealing the signals.

Signals were not given in sneaky huddles — like today.

They were given in a loud, barking voice by the quarterback. The quarterback looked over the opposition coolly. (I did this myself and was well known as having one of the coolest looks in the business.)

We looked over the opposition with one careless hand placed on the upturned seat of the center. We then barked out the signals: "Forty-one, twenty — six, twenty-two —!"

THE BALL WAS not passed to the quarterback. It was passed back to almost anybody. (Sometimes it was missed by almost everybody too.)

Whoever got it, then ran with it until he was hauled down.

We were very fearful of somebody stealing the signals — the numbers we called out told you what was going to happen. It was a code. In "American Boy" somebody was always stealing signals.

THEY STOLE THE signals and we always knew they were going to steal the signals. The one who stole the signals was a party kid. Usually nice. He kicked newsboys. Things like that.

We did not worry a bit about IBM machines. Because there were no IBM machines, the sneaky things. So all you had to worry about was keeping the signals secret.

It was so much simpler. There wasn't even any "clotheslining." They used to butt you in the stomach instead.

Japan--Ruins to Riches

TOKYO — Two economic miracles involving two defeated nations have emerged since World War 2... Germany and Japan.

Never in the history of modern war and defeat have two nations risen to challenge the victors in world trade, as the case of Germany and Japan.

OF THE TWO, Japan had to overcome greater obstacles, because of her enormous problem of overpopulation, lack of food and raw materials. The Japan we are revisiting is a remarkable example of ingenuity, hard work and resourcefulness, which came to life by U. S. economic assistance.

From ruins to riches in some 14 years is the story of Japan today. From a hated enemy in 1945 — and unconditional surrender in defeat — Japan has emerged as America's second best customer in volume of goods bought and sold... second only to Canada.

AT WAR'S END, August 1945, Japan's principal cities were in ruins. Her industry was paralyzed by destruction and economic chaos. Over five million of her citizens were killed and wounded, directly or indirectly, as a result of the war.

From such distress and destruction 14 years ago Japan has now doubled her industrial peak of the best years prior to the war. Japan today is enjoying the greatest national production in history and is one of the most prosperous nations we are covering in our present newsbeat around the world.

REMARKABLE AS it may seem, Japan today is building more ships than any other country in the world. Her standard of living, while not comparable to the U. S., compares with some of the most progressive nations we have recently toured — even those who defeated her in the war or remained neutral.

All this has been accomplished under the free enterprise system... another example of what freedom and financial incentives can create.

WHEN YOU consider a nation of about 80 million people, jammed into an area about the size of California, with only about 16 per cent of the soil suitable for growing food, you get a picture of the odds constantly facing Japan and her people.

Of course the miracle was made possible by a $2 billion boost from the United States after the war, in food, raw materials, machinery and credits. But other countries have received generous financial assistance from us, but as yet none have even come close to the recovery of Japan, with the exception of Germany and Formosa.

ALL IN ALL, reduced in land size by the loss of her overseas empire, Japan during these post war years has once again emerged as the industrial giant of the Far East, busier and more prosperous than any time in her history.

As in the case of Germany, Japan is fast becoming a serious competitor of the United States in world trade. With her low wages (much lower than Germany), Japan is underpricing and under-selling us inside the U. S. ... in the vast Far East and Middle East markets — and soon will be extending the challenge into Europe itself.

JAPAN'S STEEL production has trebled since the war, and her exports to the U. S. in light and heavy goods — also tripled in recent years — still is growing at a rate that is of major concern to U. S. industry.

In the field of chemicals, cameras, television sets, radios, bicycles, appliances, optical goods of all descriptions, etc., Japanese industry is matching U. S., and German quality at a price as much as 50 per cent lower.

DURING THE shortage of steel due to the steel strike, Japan used every available freighter to deliver to steel-hungry U. S. industry, at a price of 22 per cent lower than U. S. — even including the cost of freight from Japanese ports.

To survive the Communist challenge from Red China, Japan must extend her exports to meet the needs of her ever-growing population. About 30 per cent of her limited arable land is planted in rice. That leaves only 70 per cent for other food necessities.

IT IS HARDLY possible that Japan could produce much more than 75 per cent of her food requirements, now that Formosa has been taken away from her. This means that some 25 per cent of her food needs must be imported from abroad.

This imbalance demands an enormous volume of export product to match it. Without this export volume Japan becomes vulnerable to Communist pressure from without, and economic upheaval from within.

SO WHILE U. S. trade will continue to be challenged and often undermined by lower priced Japanese goods, the alternatives — like encroachments by Communism — would undoubtedly be worse. This is the problem we face in regard to Japan today.

While we helped to create an economic miracle in our all-out war against Communism in the Far East, we also created a formidable competitor who is beginning to challenge us and undersell us in world markets which we formerly controlled. — John Morley.

Retakes Are Needed

Hollywood — United Artists is looking all over Italy for Gina Lollobrigida but can't find her at any of her Spaghetti-burg Addresses—to tell her she's wanted back for re-takes on "Solomon and Sheba." The picture is okay for Europe but U.S. censors won't permit it to be shown here because of Lollo's unconcealed navel.

Heigh - ho - alas - and - also - lackaday — the World Series (or somethin') kept Frank Sinatra away from "Can-Can" for a whole day. Be that as (not to mention "anyway")—the rest of the cast and crew sat around all day listening to a Dodgers - Braves affray until 5:15 p. m., when director Walter Lang dismissed them.

FOUR HEARTS in Three-Quarter Time Department: Angie Dickinson is consoling director Howard Hawks over the bust-up of his marriage to Donna ("Dee") Higgins. Larni Thomas John Bromfield's ex-wife is consoling Leo Durocher over the bust-up of his marriage to Laraine Day.

Texas oil millionaire Happy Shahan will inherit the Alamo set built by John Wayne when Big Duke finishes shooting "The Alamo" on Happy's acreage in Brackettville, Texas. Happy will turn it into a tourist trap for those who can't get over to San Antonio to see the original Alamo.

Irving Wallace wrote it on the flyleaf of my copy of his new novel "The Sins of Philip Fleming": "Will retake it, if Jerry Wald buys it, to 'The Son of Peyton Place'."

THE THINGS THEY SAY — Jayne Mansfield, in a letter to her agent, Bill Shiffrin, from London: "Please plan my next two pictures so that I can have a baby in between" . . . Juliette Greco: "The most expensive thing is money" . . . Robert Ryan: "The only way I got tickets to the World Series was by offering to make a movie called 'The Walter O'Malley Story.'"

Brown Derby boss Bob Cobb: "This place was originally built as a theatre by the late Cecil B. DeMille in 1929 but never used as such — and my waiters are such huns they're still fighting for the star dressing room in the basement!"

TUESDAY WELD is taking typing in 20th-Fox's Little Succo Schoolhouse this season. It seems she got hold of a 1944 movie fan magazine and noticed that very few of the stars whose phizzes appear in it are still around. . . . Miss Weld, Queen of the Hollywood Beauties, is interested in H. Allen Smith's new book, an offbeat example of haute couture titled "Walkie Beachnik."

Billet stuck in a milk bottle in a Beverly Hills backyard: "Dear Milkman — We don't want milk every day. We want it like — well, today we want milk. Tomorrow, however, we don't. Also, the next day will be just like the day before and the day after tomorrow."

CHANNEL CHATTER — That racket emanating from Columbia Pictures is not the Boston Symphony scoring of the soundtrack of "The Franz List Story" with Frederic Converse's "Concerto for 10,000 Flippers." It's heavyweight champ Ingemar Johansson, The Man Who Made Minnesota Famous, demanding more money for his role opposite Alan Ladd and Sidney Poitier in "All the Young Men."

Actually, it's Johansson's new representative, the William Morris Agency, that's demanding it — and all because Ingo turned up topnotch on Dinah Shore's teeoff teevee'r a week ago last Sunday (Oct. 4).

FRICASSEE ME and third-degree me, I don't care — I'm mighty proud of my "protegee," Gwen Verdon, and the showing she made alongside Dinah, same show. Gwen used to write my column in The Hollywood Reporter when I was on vacation. Her then - husband, Jim Henshaw, was supposed to write it on the side, so whenever Jim got too involved with thumping the tubs for Big Duke, Gwen would take over at the typewriter. Need I add her typing was tops too, just like her terping?

Pardon me while I bust another vest-button over Dorothy Provine, the beautiful blonde co-star of Warner-TV's new series, The Alaskans. Dorothy's the one I wrote about a week or so ago. Producer Harry Tatelman had given her some of Beatrice Kay's old songs to sing. Beatrice showed up for a guesting in one of the deepfreeze segments, was advised Dorothy had sung the songs she wanted to sing, and demanded to know just WHO Dorothy Provine is! Now she knows.

SO DOES EVERYBODY else in show business: Dorothy is on her way to Stardom with a Capital S, on-allegro-with-a-lot-of-andantino too, and so her co-star, Roger Moore.

It was strictly yo-ho-hum-and-a-bottle-of-sassaparilla when that first show beamed, by the way. Dorothy was throwing a birthday party that night for a friend of hers, writer Rona Barrett. I asked Miss Provine, a Phi Beta Kappa who never wears her key, "Why aren't you watching your first show?" Ho-hummed she. "Why should I? I've already seen the rushes."

TORONTO ARGONAUT, hot-shot nudges me with the news he's retiring from the game at the venerable age of 24 and heading, for Europe — "to do some serious writing."

Temper, temper — it was too much backstage at last Sunday's (Oct. 11) non-Dinah Chevy Show. Gueststar Zsa Zsa Gabor expected The Star Treatment (free limousine service between her hotel and NBC-TV — ESPECIALLY from an auto sponsor!) but didn't get it.

THE DESERT SPA in Las Vegas is being turned into a supermarket. But let's not blame THAT on TV too — whoever heard of anybody going to Vegas to watch TV?

Ex-"Champagne Lady" Alice Lon is warning up to reveal her Lawrence Welk-concealed (and well-concealed) sex appeal for her bistro bow tomorrow night (Oct. 14) at the Coconut Grove — and wasn't a deeply-cleaved gown bossman Lawrence Welk refused to let her wear on a TV show one of the reasons they parted company?

House Stands Alone Until Movie Finished

NEW YORK (UP) — An intriguing sight for several months gazing sight for several months has been a single brown stone house standing alone amid the rubble of a clearance project on New York's East 69th Street.

Eventually it also will succumb to a wrecking crew, but its lonely splendor has been recorded on film for the movie version of "Bells Are Ringing," starring Judy Holliday. Director Vincente Minnelli saw the house, felt it was just the sort of place for the telephone answering service that figures in the plot and lost no time in getting a location crew to photograph it.

EARL WILSON:

Mario Lanza Had 'New Diet,' Lived Fully to End

NEW YORK—The inside story on Mario Lanza's sad death as we hear it now is that one week before he began a "new diet"—he ate no dinner but consumed a bottle of champagne . . . he'd been warned that drinking would cause his early death from a liver ailment . . . but he preferred to live gaily to the end.

Peter Lind Hayes and Mary Healy did an ABC radio interview with him in his marble-pillared Rome palace Sept. 30. "What can we do about Mario?" his doctor asked them later.

He was in good voice, weighed about 230, and lately boasted of great wealth, which Rome intimates said were imagined. Zsa Zsa Gabor, who saw him a month ago, thought he "was an All-American boy who was homesick and might have died of a broken heart."

Lanza was enthusiastic about a coming TV show for Pontiac. He called his dogs "Menasha" and "Skulnick." He told Hayes, who discovered him at Marfa, Tex., during World War II, "Thank you so much for teaching me so darned much." Lanza, telling Mrs. Lanza how to greet Hayes, said, "When you're in show business together, you tell an old friend, 'We love you madly, insanely, crazily.'"

Lanza had claimed recently that while suffering pneumonia he got 140 injections of antibiotics in one week. Ironically, some people thought that he was a hypochondriac.

Hayes recalled that Lanza, then in the Army, first persuaded him to consider him for show business by begging him to listen to a recording that Lanza said "I made with Koussevitzky."

"I listened to it and 8 bars later, I said, 'You're hired,'" Hayes remembered.

Later Lanza confessed to Hayes, "That wasn't me on that record. It was Gigli."

Hayes said: "I didn't care by then. I thought he could sing better than Gigli. And the last time I heard him in Rome, he was still singing great. If he'd ever lost his voice, he had sure found it again."

Hollywood's hearing the usual rumors about Desi and Lucille—but I saw 'em working together on a labor of love: Lucille's personally presented "Desilu Revue." Exploding the famous Show Biz crack, "Young actors today have no place to be lousy in." D & L have put up $100,000 to develop such youngsters as Dick Kallman, Georgine Darcy, Carole Cook and Johnny O'Neill, in their own little theater out at Desilu Studios. Desi and Lucille were standing in the back taking notes on the performances—quite obviously still a team.

It's already a big year for stunningly beautiful Nancy Kovich, an ex-Jackie Gleason "Glea Girl" now hosting on "Beat the Clock." She got her Columbia contract the other day for "Strangers When We Meet" with Kim Novak—and the same day Otto Preminger interviewed her for "Exodus." Nancy, a brain, who graduated from the University of Michigan at 19, has a new apt. in which the air-conditioning didn't work. She notified the landlord "Some like it hot, but we like it cool." (Twins fixed.)

A couple of years ago, Elvis Presley asked her for a date. "No, because I haven't known you before," she said, "but the next time you ask me I might say yes because then I'll have known you before." Elvis asked—and she visited him in Memphis.

WISH I'D SAID THAT:

Dean Jones to Sing For Hat Parade

MGM SINGING STAR Dean Jones will be the star attraction next Monday for the Hat Parade Luncheon at Chi Chi Starlite Room. The spectacular event is a benefit for Palm Springs entry in the Rose Tournament Parade on New Year's Day.

Palm Springs which seldom sees hats at a luncheon, will see every kind next Monday when the Hat Parade Luncheon makes a hat as important as a ticket. Rumors make it evident that this year's Parade will exceed last year's when over 700 women showed up wearing every conceivable kind of head gear.

The hats themselves will be the show at the Hat Parade Luncheon at Chi Chi next Monday, with the exception of one stellar attraction, handsome young singing star Dean Jones, who is performing that afternoon under the approval of Theatre Authority.

Fans have followed Dean Jones' career with interest ever since his starring triumph in MGM's "Handle With Care." He played the second male lead with Sinatra in "Never So Few," has guested on the Steve Allen and Dinah Shore television shows, and is under contract to MGM Records, for whom he has recorded a score of tunes, rock 'n' roll and ballads included. His favorite song is "Old Man River" and his rich baritone picked up some of its warmth from early school days when he picked cotton during vacation months, joining the deep resonant voices of the male cotton pickers singing "Old Man River" from dawn to dusk.

Bill Alexander's orchestra will play for the hat parade, which will be emceed by Martin Beck. Arriving luncheon guests will be assigned their category at the door, and will contest in the following classifications: Palm Springs hats (the prize for this is three days, two nights, food and entertainment for two at the Sahara in Las Vegas); Zany hats (the prize is an 11 x 14 Living Color camera portrait by Anderson); Around The World hats (the prize is a gold hat bracelet charm from Andreas); Spectacular hats in the head dress style (the prize is a blouse from Madelyn Flo Rito); Fresh Flower hats (the prize is an original hat and handbag set by Jessie Baumgardner); Men's hats (the prize is a genuine, authentic charro hat that Frank Bogert brought back from Mexico).

Sweepstakes prize will be a week at Golden Door at Escondido, gift of Professor and Mrs. Edmund de Szekely, owners of Golden Door and Tecate.

The show is being coordinated by Joan McManus, whose Easter Hat Parade is an annual Palm Springs event.

The doors open at 12 noon and luncheon will be served at 12:30. There will be a hat bar for those who come hatless and wish to buy a hat. Jane Wade and Jacquie Cole are in charge of this.

The menu will be a salad plate, hot rolls, ice cream roll and coffee. Through arrangement with the management, script will be sold for bar drinks, but this will not include fancy mixes.

Elaborate table decorations, combining the hat motif with the western, have been created by Mary Noel, and made by a com-

Hadassah Meeting Tomorrow

Wednesday, October 14th, at 12 noon marks the first meeting of the season for the Palm Springs Chapter of Hadassah.

There will be a delightful luncheon hosted by Mrs. Sol Vineber and her co-hostesses Mmes. Abe Arbitman, Jacob Field, Eve Holzman, Rose Levinson, Don Marx, Kate Neishuler, Zach Pitts, Louis Richman, Abe Schwartz, Dave Spector and Joe Wasserman.

On the program for the day, Palm Springs will be honored in having as its guest speakers the president of the Southern Pacific Coast Region of Hadassah, Mrs. Sam Hoffman and Mrs. Frank R. Ackerman, vice president. Both of these women are well known in Southern California for their activities in many phases of philanthropic work and are expected to present inspiring messages to the local chapter.

Mrs. John Chernus, ways and means chairman, will present her co-chairmen with their programs for the coming season as follows: Hadassah Medical Organization, Mrs. Eve Holzman; Youth Aliyah, Mrs. Joseph Wasserman; and Educational, Miss Clara Fox.

Mrs. Isadore Becker, president of the Palm Springs Chapter, extends a cordial invitation to all members and visitors. The luncheon meeting will be held at the Jewish Community Center 332 W. Alejo.

Returns Home

Mrs. Dorothy Lynch, wife of General George Lynch, returned to her home on Beavertail Street in Palm Desert Thursday after a four-month visit with her mother in San Diego.

Business Women Start New Year

AS PRETTY AS A PICTURE is this view at the Cochran-Odlum Golf Course looking toward the northwest on the eighth fairway. The course is the second oldest in Coachella Valley.

Cochran-Odlum Golf Club Is Popular In Area

By DICK ROWDEN

Although it only offers a nine-hole course, the Cochran-Odlum Golf Club near Indio is still one of the most popular in Coachella Valley.

This is largely because its 50-acre playing area is regarded as a top challenge for all duffers, both amateur and professional alike.

BUT ITS POPULARITY also stems from the fact that it is extremely well developed from being the second oldest course in the valley. The first course to be established in the area was the O'Donnell Golf Club in Palm Springs.

Located off Monroe near Highway 111 on the west side of Indio, the course was first set up on land owned by Jackie Cochran in 1945.

It is still privately owned but it is open to the public. Annual membership averages around 150 persons.

GOLFERS DESCRIBE the course as "quite rolling" because of the wash that passes through it. The course is bordered by oleanders in alternate red and white colors. And orchid trees are scattered throughout the course, making it one of the colorful in the area. It has one lake.

The driving force behind the course is Roger Pettit, pro-manager and superintendent. Pettit has been associated with the course for the past 11 years.

THE COURSE has witnessed its share of golfing celebrities, too. At one time or another it has played by persons such as Raymond Massey, Hoagy Carmichael, Clark Gable, the late Ronald Coleman, Bob Hope, George Allen, Edgar Eisenhower.

"Now Danny Kaye used to play here a lot—he used to put on an act for us," recalled Pettit the other day as he thoughtfully examined a new putter on display at the course's golf shop. Many persons who formerly played at Cochran-Odlum now frequent the larger, 18-hole courses which have sprung up in the past few years in the area.

IN DISCUSSING celebrities at the course, he recalled Jinx Falkenberg who received her first golf lesson from him a few years ago.

Cochran-Odlum is unique among other nine-hole courses the same size in that it has two sets of holes on each tee to vary the approaches on each of the fairways. Thus, a person could actually play 18 holes by going through the course twice and using the different tees.

At present there is talk of expanding the course to 18 holes but it is believed this probably won't be until next year.

ONE OF THE BIG events at the course is the annual Merchants Tournament open to Indio businessmen. It is usually held during spring. The Public Links Tournament has been slated for Nov. 12. Other tournament to come up during the season after not yet been scheduled.

Among the facilities offered at the course are the golf shop snack bar, driving range, electric carts and a skeet range. During the winter season, Pettit gets help from Ralph Mowberry, who acts as assistant pro during that time. Others employed at the course include Bud Phelps, assistant greenskeeper, Aldine Tarter, bookkeeper and accountant and Joe Ramirez, shop boy.

Art Wall Top Pro of Year In PGA Vote

Masters Champion Receives Majority Of All Votes Cast

DUNEDIN, Fla. (UPI) — Art Wall, who received more votes than all other candidates combined, today was named Professional Golfer-of-the-Year for 1959.

Wall, the Masters champion from Pocono Manor, Pa., will receive the award at the president's dinner during the annual PGA meeting Dec. 8 at Clearwater, Fla.

Harold Sargent, PGA president, said Wall was named on 216 ballots in a nation-wide poll of sports writers and sports broadcasters. Bill Casper, the 1959 Open champion from Apple Valley, Calif., was second with 60 votes. Bob Rosburg, the PGA titleholder from Palo Alto, Calif., was third with 46. Mike Souchak of Grossinger, N.Y., was next with 24 and Gene Littler of Singing Hills, Calif., was fifth with 18.

Wall, 35, struck gold on the golf circuit in 1959 after years of steady improvement. He won $8,580 in official prize money last January, the most ever made by a professional golfer in the first month of any year. With that Wall went on to earn more than $50,000 in 1959.

LSU Widens Lead in UPI Gridiron Poll

NEW YORK (UPI) — Louisiana State widened its lead over Northwestern today in the United Press International major college football ratings, which included two eastern powers, Syracuse and Penn State, among the top 10 teams.

Aside from the frequent appearances of Army and Navy in the top 10 group, this was the best showing by Eastern teams in several seasons. Syracuse was in the No. 8 spot and Penn State 10th. Texas moved up one notch to third place in this week's ratings by the 35-man UPI board of coaches. Following the Longhorns in order came Georgia Tech, Purdue, Southern California, Mississippi, Syracuse, Iowa and Penn State.

The top 10 group thus included three teams each from the Big Ten and Southeastern Conferences two from the East, and one each from the Southwest and Pacific Coast.

Auburn headed this week's second 10 group, followed by Air Force Academy and Clemson. Arkansas and Notre Dame were tied for 14th place. Tennessee was 16th; Washington and Oklahoma tied for 17th; and Southern Methodist and Florida tied for 19th. Wisconsin, Pittsburgh and Oregon also received votes this week.

Dressen Refuses To Talk About That $300 Fine

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Charley Dressen, coach of the world champion Los Angeles Dodgers, declined to discuss today the $300 fine levied against him for his actions in the sixth and final game of the World Series at Chicago.

Dressen said he wanted time to study the two-part fine and promised he would have something to say about it in a day or two.

Baseball Commissioner Ford Frick announced Monday Dressen was fined $200 for "use of profane language and threatening gestures" during his dispute with American League umpire Ed Hurley, who was stationed at first base in front of the Los Angeles dugout. Another $100 was charged against the Dodger coach for "showboating and delaying the game" after Hurley had ejected him.

Frick said the fine would be deducted from Dressen's series check.

AMERICAN LEAGUE Manager Al Lopez of the Chicago White Sox and National League Manager Walter Alston of the Los Angeles Dodgers have been named Major League baseball managers of the year for piloting their teams into the World Series.

THE WHIZ KIDS OF 1959

Alston, Lopez Named Leading Managers

NEW YORK (UPI) — Al Lopez and Walt Alston, who led the Chicago White Sox and Los Angeles Dodgers to surprising pennant victories and then battled it out in baseball's first "Jet World Series," were named the major leagues' top managers today by United Press International.

Lopez, 51-year-old native of Tampa, Fla., was the choice of 22 of the 24 writers who comprised the American League committee while Alston, 47-year-old native of Darlington, Ohio, was picked as the National League's top pilot by 16 of the 24 writers on the board.

Joe Gordon, who led the Cleveland Indians to a second place finish, received the other two votes in the American League. Bill Rigney, whose San Francisco Giants folded in the final week of the campaign after apparently having the pennant "locked up," was second in the NL voting with six votes. Fred Haney of the Milwaukee Braves and Danny Murtagh of the Pittsburgh Pirates received one each.

Lopez, who never has finished lower than second in 12 years of managing major and minor league teams, was honored for steering the White Sox to their first pennant in 40 years.

Alston, who also led the Dodgers to their only world championship in Brooklyn, started this year definitely on the spot because of the sorry seventh-place finish of 1958. Few experts gave the Dodgers a chance in spring training and they were written off a half dozen times during the season as the Giants and Braves appeared to be making a two-team battle for the flag.

But the Dodgers roared from behind in the final week to tie the Braves for the flag and create the third post-season playoff in NL history. They went on to upset the Braves in two straight games and then upset the White Sox, favored at 11 to 10, in the six-game World Series.

Montebello Girl Is Bowl Queen

PASADENA (UPI) — Kathy Karsh, 17, a Montebello High School coed, has been chosen queen of the 14th annual Junior Rose Bowl Game.

The green-eyed, brown-haired senior is the first high school girl ever selected to reign over the Dec. 12 post-season grid classic.

Carter to Try for Comeback Tonight

RICHMOND, Calif. (UPI) — Jimmy Carter, the only fighter to win the world lightweight title three times, resumes his latest comeback tonight when he meets Irish Jimmy Smith of Oakland in a 10-round bout.

RANDY JACKSON RETIRES

ATHENS, Ga. (UPI) — Ransom Randy Jackson, recently placed on waivers by the Chicago Cubs, has announced his retirement from baseball.

Willie Wood to be Back in Trojan Line-Up Saturday

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Coach Don Clark said today he expected the return of No. 1 quarterback Willie Wood to place the University of Southern California football squad to be in the best shape of the season for Saturday's clash with Washington in Seattle.

Wood was feared lost for the season with a shoulder separation, but returned Monday to light practice. In addition, Dan Ficca and Mike McKeever, two starting linemen sidelined with foot injuries for the past week, also are back.

Another Toughie Forecast

Coach Clare Ballagh of the Palm Springs High School Indians is looking for more trouble this week in the final practice game of the 1959 season.

He takes his squad to Hemet Friday to meet the Bulldogs, undefeated so far this season. Last Friday Hemet ripped Banning High 18 to 0 in a practice game there.

Hemet, which met the Tribe in previous years in the old Riverside County League, is now in the De Anza League and Palm Springs is in the new Desert-Valley League.

BANNING, BOPPED by Hemet, last week, is in the new Desert-Valley League with Palm Springs, Indio, Coachella, Yucaipa and Twentynine Palms.

In another practice game Friday, Beaumont, also in the De Anza League, clobbered Coachella Valley High, 39 to 6.

Banning and Coachella, both heavy losers so far, are in Palm Springs, are rated the top three in the new Desert-Valley loop. The new Desert-Valley League, formed out of three old RCL schools are, Palm Springs, Banning and Coachella with three new schools, Indio, Yucaipa and Twentynine Palms, starts its season a week from Friday, Oct. 23.

PALM SPRINGS entertains Indio, twice beaten so far; Coachella opens at Twentynine Palms and Banning hosts Yucaipa.

So far, members of the new De Anza League, composed of five former RCL schools—Beaumont, Hemet, San Jacinto, Elsinore and Perris plus one new one, Fallbrook—have decisively defeated Desert-Valley schools in practice games.

The Indians trip to Hemet Friday will be their first away from home game this season. Thursday night the Indian Jayvees, victorious by big scores in their two practice games, play their first home game against Hemet J.V.s.

Las Vegas Rally Is Under Way

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Some 23 cars took off from here early today for a 3,200-mile run in the first American International Automotive Rally.

Sixty-nine drivers from seven other cities, Mexico and Canada were competing for $10,000 in prizes in the test to determine the precision and reliability of the driver and car over the pre-judged course.

Stock and sports cars were entered in the rally which concludes Saturday in Las Vegas, Nev.

WAS CLEOPATRA A BLONDE OR BRUNETTE?

There is just as much reason for supposing that Cleopatra was a blonde as there is for supposing she was a brunette. However, it should be pointed out that popular conception is that she was a decided brunette. It should also be remembered that she was often referred to as the "dark queen of Egypt."

Back to Bases

Special Crews Guarded Planes

Contingents of Marine and Air Force security guards have returned to their respective bases after standing watch for eight days over President Eisenhower's personal plane and helicopters.

The sentinels were picked crews from the Twenty-nine Palms Marine Base Guards Company and Strategic Air Command airmen from March Air Force Base.

A SPECIAL GUARD force of 29 Marines was billeted at Desert Air Hotel, where they maintained an around-the-clock security watch over the three Marine helicopters used to transport the President's party between Palm Springs and his La Quinta retreat.

Also stationed at the hotel was the President's personal whirlybird crew, commanded by Lt. Col. Victor Armstrong, which converted the airport into a temporary heliport.

The copters and their crews were from Marine Helicopter Group 36 at the Santa Ana Marine Corps Air Facility.

AT THE SAME time, a contingent of 30 SAC airmen were quartered at the Bahama Hotel in Palm Springs as the guests of Duke Masterson, Bahama general manager, who, coincidentally, has a son in SAC.

The airmen were hand picked to guard the Presidential 707 jet transport parked at Palm Springs Airport during the President's week-long desert holiday.

The March AFB crew was commanded by Col. Robert Davis and Capt. Alan Tuck, base security officer.

Committed to Columbia

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Author Leon Uris, who wrote the best-selling novel "Exodus," has committed his next four novels to Columbia Pictures in one of the biggest such deals in movie history. He agreed to write and produce at least two of these pictures within the next four years.

RELAXING BETWEEN SHIFTS. Air Force guards for the Presidential plane enjoy an outing at the swimming pool of the Bahama Hotel here, where they were quartered during President Eisenhower's resort visit last week. The Strategic Air Command airmen from March Air Force Base maintained around-the-clock sentry posts to guard the President's 707 jet transport while it was parked at Palm Springs Airport. RAMBLER FOR 1960 makes its debut at Woodfin Motors, in Cathedral City Thursday. Rambler dealer G. A. Woodfin, left, and salesman Dick White are pictured with the new Rambler 6 station wagon, one of the most popular models in the new American Motors lines. Also scheduled to go on display at Woodfin are the Rambler Rebel V-8 and the highly popular Rambler American, which this year features a new four-door sedan in addition to the two-door sedan and station wagon models. (Desert Sun Photo).

NEW RAMBLER, REBEL MAKE DEPUT AT WOODFIN MOTORS

CATHEDRAL CITY — American Motors is accenting fresh sculptured styling, economy of operation and new station wagon models in its line of Rambler 6 and Rebel V-8 models for 1960.

The Rambler 6 and Rebel go on display Thursday at Woodfin Motors here, along with the popular Rambler American models. Rambler dealer G. A. Woodfin announced today.

WOODFIN ALSO announced that the Rambler American for 1960 features the addition of a new four-door sedan.

The new Rambler 6 and Rebel models are now slightly shorter than their 1959 predecessors, but they have the same roomy interiors — with five-foot-wide seats for six passengers, Woodfin said.

The more compact exteriors, reduced four inches in length, will permit even greater parking ease and maneuverability for the agile Ramblers, Woodfin noted.

OVERALL LENGTH of both the 1960 sedan and station wagon is less than 16 feet, making the Rambler more than one and two-thirds feet shorter than other top-selling cars, the local Rambler dealer said.

Horsepower of the Rambler 6 remains at 127, but the Rebel powerplant has been reduced to 200 horsepower for greater economy, Woodfin reported. Optional power-packs are available and all Rambler models operate on regular-grade fuels.

"THE DISTINCTIVELY - styled Ramblers retain the basic characteristics which helped push Rambler sales to an all-time high level in 1959," Woodfin said. "American Motors follows a continuing program of basic car improvement, avoiding change for the sake of change."

The big news for the 1960 edition of the popular Rambler American is the addition of a four-door sedan model, which was added to the line "because of popular demand," Woodfin asserted.

The Rambler American lines also features two-door sedans and station wagons.

PRINCIPAL NEW features on this year's Americans are wider opening angle for doors, increased window area, longer coil springs for added comfort, and roof-top travel racks for the super station wagon models.

Woman Surprises 'Early' Customer

It was a "shocking experience" for everybody concerned when uninvited guests dropped in while Dorothy Stein was working in her downtown children's wear shop early yesterday morning.

Mrs. Stein told police she was working at the front counter of her store, the Mary Helen Children's Shop at 140 North Palm Canyon Drive, at about 1:40 a.m., when she heard a "strange slithering noise."

She looked up in time to see a young man crawling towards the front of the store on his hands and knees. The startled woman shouted at the youth. The equally surprised prowler rose and sprinted for the back.

The crawling culprit was joined by a second youth, hiding in the rear of the store, and both raced off through the rear door, which ent attempt to raid the supposedly unoccupied shop.
